He is also a recognized expert on the uses of action methods with adolescents and has several books and many articles and chapters published in the field.

See how the Trauma Survivors' Internal Role Atom (TSIRA) has provided a clinical map of internal roles to safely and effectively use TSM across cultures, religions, politics, race, and gender in many settings.

You will learn how the Asian influence has shaped TSM for 20 years. Hear about its uses in the Middle East.

This workshop was first offered the weekend before the annual conference of ASGPP and now continues as Mario returns from Bali to the Bay Area in Fall 2019. Now he brings another opportunity for you to experience an "in vivo lab" as we co-create together how to reach across multicultural identity to bring people together to share their purpose. He is joined by Gabriel Thibaut, a Belgian who recently gained citizenship and Lisa Chu who is a Taiwanese American exploring her Asian roots. Join in the co-creation as we use the TSM Safety Structures to help you bridge and celebrate our differences, knowing we are all cosmic beings together.

1/2 price if you are traveling internationally.

Certified TSM participants please contact Gabriel at Gabriel.thibaut@yahoo.com for fee waivers.
